Abstract

Education is an important aspect that plays a huge role in an individual's life. It certainly determines the quality of our life. Education not only improves the chances of employment but also improves one's knowledge and skill. It is the basis of our life and society. In the absence of education a nation or a society can not develop. Education prepares us to face and solve every problem and situation in our life.

Introduction : Education in ancient period :

From ancient times education was an integral part of Indian society. The education system existed in Gurukuls, pathshalas, tol, chatushpada, homes even in temples. This widespread network helped in the spread of education and in the growth and development of ancient Indian society. Among these gurukul
